WASHINGTON NOTES.

The Chandler Matters to be Investigated--Women's Convention--Meeting of the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Col. Shafter and Lieut Bullis will appear before the house military committee to-day to testify in relation to the affairs on the Rio Grande.

The President has pardoned S. P. Steele, who was sentenced for robbing the mail.

The expulsion of the Baltimore Guano Company from Mordant Keys, by a British man-of-war, causes threatening comment, as large interest in the Keys is held here.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 7.—Representative Springer is authority that Ben. Butler will introduce a resolution to inquire into matters partially ventilated by Chandler.

Col. Shafter, from the Texas border, before the sub military committee, said in addition to what is already known, that there has been much less stealing during the past than any previous year.

The Supreme Court has convened. There is a full bench. The great McGarehan claim for the New Idria quicksilver mines, was decided adversely to McGarehan on account of a defect in the record. Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad vs. Houston, executor. The Court declares that where parties take unnecessary risks crossing railroads before advancing trains they cannot recover.

The report of the board of inquiry into the charges made against Mr. S. A. Galpin, chief clerk of the Indian bureau, gives a view of the general workings of the Indian bureau far from creditable to him, but Secretary Schurz, in removing him from the office, bases his action especially on the fact that he has kept information of irregularities in the Pawnee agency from the knowledge of his superior officers. Other dismissals will follow shortly.

The Women's Convention in search of the ballot is in progress here. Mrs. Sarah J. Spencer, of this city, presiding, with the appellation of Mrs. President. The convention proposes vigorous measures. According to the Star reporter, Mrs. Hooker suggested that the convention adjourn on Wednesday next to meet in the ladies' reception room of the Senate, and then ask God to direct them what next to do. She said she wanted it understood that the ladies intended to take possession of the Capitol next Thursday by God.

[This ejaculation is not in any profane manner but with a supplicating jesture, directed upwards.]—REP.

TURCO-RUSSIAN WAR.

Evacuation of Schipka Pass--The Russians Crossing the Balkans.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Daily News Bucharest correspondent: Says an officer from the Czarewitch's headquarters states that Gen. Radetsky crossed the Balkans through Schipka Pass, the Turks having abandoned their positions previously because of severe cold weather, The Times correspondent at Bucherest makes a similar report.

A correspondent of the Times at St. Petersburg says: It is rumored that Austria and Germany have vetoed the idea of opening the Dardanelles to Russian vessels only. Russia has consequently determined not to raise the question at all.

The Czar for the present has abandoned the intention of returning to Bulgaria.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A special dispatch from Bucharest to the Daily News says: "General Radetsky, who has crossed the Balkans through Schipka Pass, will probably not move beyond Kezanlik, where he can secure comfortable headquarters. Interruption of the communication across the Danube would arrest his onward march. Nothing is known at the headquarters of the Czarewitch about General Radetsky's movements, which would confirm the impression that he will not go beyond Kezanlik for the present.

ENGLAND.

Resignation of the Earl of Carnarvon.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Manchester Guardian this morning has a despatch from its London correspondent stating it is reported that the Earl of Carnarvon, Secretary of State for the Colonies in the British Ministry, has resigned.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 7.—The Post's London correspondent telegraphs: "The opinion is gaining ground that the general election for members of Parliament is near and that Conservative managers are already preparing therefor. Secretaries of different Conservative associations have been in town during the past week consulting with various members of the government. They report strongly in favor of dissolution.

Victor Emanuel Seriously Ill.

ROME, Jan. 7.—King Victor Emanuel passed a comparatively quiet night but the fever continues to increase with further extension of pleurisy.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A special despatch from Rome to the Pall Mall Gazette says: Professor Baccelli of Rome and Dr. Bruno from Turin have been summoned for consultation in regard to the condition of the King. The left lower lobe of his right lung is congested. The whole right pleura is affected and there is also intense intercostal neuralgic pain affecting the entire abdomen. This being only the second day of the malady it is impossible to predict the issue. When news of the Kings illness reached the Pope he asked the Cardinals present what will happen if the Vatican and Quirinal both become vacant. The proposal to hold the next conclave elsewhere than in Rome is strongly opposed by Camerlengo Pecci. The scheme is promoted by ultra-montane Cardinals.

President Winston on Silver.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—President Winston of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, in a letter to his finance committee estimates that if resumption takes place next January the company's assets will be ninety million of dollars in gold. He argues however that unlimited issues of cheap silver dollars would strike off more than seven millions of that total to the injury of their policy-holders, scattered all over the country and holding prospective claims aggregating three hundred millions of dollars in sums averaging only three thousand dollars each. The money thus lost would not be taken from rich men or bondholders, but from the pittances of future widows and orphans. The necessary inference is that proportionate losses must accrue to the patrons of all similar popular financial institutions.

NORFOLK, Jan. 7.—Walter W. Poice from Elizabeth for Conwayboro, S. C., went ashore on Cape Lookout to-day.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Arrived out—Gullenburg, homeward; Louis Smith, Hampton Roads; Helen Marion, Tybee; Cumberland, Savannah; Lizzie M. Morrell, Galveston; Annie S. Conant, Mobile.

Governor Vance.

(Philadelphia Times, 5th.)

A good deal has been said in the last few days about some alleged disloyal utterances by two of the State officials of North Carolina at an emancipation celebration in Raleigh. Governor Vance was charged with a churlish reception of the colored people who went to pay their respects to him as their Chief Magistrate, and with disowning the amendment that incorporated the principle of universal freedom in the Constitution. Full reports by mail put a very different face on the matter. Governor Vance frankly said that, having fought against emancipation, he could hardly be expected to rejoice as his visitors did over it, but he was careful to add: "You have a right to expect that, having acquiesced with the people of the South in the results of the revolution, I should, as Governor of North Carolina, recognize you as citizens, and should respect all the rights with which the laws have invested you." "This," said he, "I always have done and always shall do, and that cheerfully." He then made a very sensible speech, entering heartily into the spirit of the occasion and giving the colored folks some sound advice. That Governor Vance is not the Bourbon that he is painted was attested by the remarks of the colored orator of the day, who accorded him full and special praise for what his administration had done for the promotion of the interests of the colored race. He particularly referred to the establishment of a normal school for the instruction of negro teachers and to the general encouragement of the cause of popular education. In the ten years that they had control of the State, the carpet-baggers did absolutely nothing in this direction. Governor Vance may have a very long tongue, but he is making a clean Gubernatorial record, and the obstructionists must look elsewhere for proofs of Southern disloyalty.

The Cash Captured at Richmond.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The Richmond banks have again come to the front with a demand for the gold bullion and other coin seized in that city by the Union forces, and claimed to be the property of the Confederate government. At one time Andrew Johnson, when President, ordered the Secretary of the Treasury to return the property to the banks, as he was satisfied of the legality of their claim to it. Gen. Spinner, who was the treasurer, refused to obey the order, and succeeded in having passed through the House of Representatives a resolution directing that the money be covered into the Treasury. This was done, and it is said that the bullion was sent to the mint and coined. The Richmond banks ask now that they be paid the equivalent. They have retained Col. Robt. J. Ingersoll as their counsel, and the subject is now before the committee on the judiciary.

CHIEF JUSTICE PEARSON.

Particulars of His Death--Sketch of His Life--Proceedings of the Raleigh Bar--Arrangements for the Funeral.

Chief Justice Pearson had been in feeble health for several years. It will be remembered that in the summer of 1874 he was extremely ill for a time, so much so that his life was despaired of by some of his friends; but he rallied, and regained much of his wonted vigor of body and mind. A letter from Judge Pearson to a gentleman in this city dated December 31st 1877 contained the statement that he was in the enjoyment of better health than usual. Five days after the date of this letter, on January the 5th, 1878, he left his home, Richmond Hill, Yadkin county, to come to Raleigh, to attend the January term of the Supreme Court. He set out to reach Winston the head of the railroad, on his way to attend the January term of the Supreme Court which began in this city on yesterday. He travelled in a buggy, his only companion the driver. When three miles from home he leaned over on the driver, and as the driver thought, went to sleep, and he did not discover that anything unusual was the matter with the Judge until he got to the ferry, on the Yadkin river, 15 miles from Winston, and about the same from Judge Pearson's when the driver tried to rouse him up, but was unable to do so.

That evening, upon arriving at Winston, he was lifted from the buggy into Wilson's hotel; and physicians were at once summoned to his relief. Doctors Roan and Bynum were promptly at his bed-side. They found him in a death stupor from acute paralysis of the entire right side of the brain. The left side did not sympathize with the attack as his left hand and arm were used. He was totally unconscious, and speechless; and it was at once seen that there was no hope of his recovery. He sank rapidly, and breathed his last at thirty-five minutes after ten on Saturday night, January 5th.

Before his death, Judge Fowle, his son-in-law, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Maggie Fowle, arrived, being the only representatives of his immediate family present in his dying hour. Every sympathy for the dying Chief was manifested by the good, kind people of Winston and Salem; and his sad death caused general mourning throughout those communities. The Court House was at once draped in his honor.

The body was taken yesterday morning from Salem via Greensboro, accompanied by a delegation of the citizens of Salem and Winston, to Statesville, where it will be interred, in accordance with arrangements to be hereafter announced.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SUPREME COURT AND THE RALEIGH BAR.

The Supreme Court met at 10 A. M., Attorney General Kenan formally announced the death of Chief Justice Richmond M. Pearson, and moved that the court adjourn. Upon the adoption of the motion, an informal meeting of the bar was at once called. The following gentlemen were present: Hon. A. S. Merrimon, Hon. T. S. Kenan, Hon. H. A. Gilliam, Hon. A. A. McKoy, Hon. Jos. B. Batchelor, Col. T. C. Fuller, R. H. Battle, Esq., C. M. Busbee, Esq., Major A. M. Lewis, Captain Octavius Coke, F. H. Busbee, Esq., R. T. Gray, Esq., E. R. Stamps, Esq., T. M. Argo, Esq., J. E. Bledsoe, Esq., Geo. H. Snow, Esq., J. C. L. Harris, Esq., Col. Walter Clark, Alf. Haywood, Esq., and R. C. Badger, Esq.

On motion of Hon. Jos. B. Batchelor, Judge A. A. McKoy was called to the chair, and Geo. H. Snow, Esq., elected Secretary.

A dispatch was read from John Gray Bynum, Esq., stating that the remains would be interred at Richmond Hill, day not stated.

Judge McKoy stated very impressively the object of the meeting, and delivered the following appropriate remarks upon the deceased:

My Brethren of the Bar:

The mournful intelligence of the death of the late Chief Justice of North Carolina has brought us together for the purpose of doing that reverence to his memory which the man, his high office and great attainments demand of his fellow-citizens and particularly of his brethren of the legal profession.

As perhaps the great common law lawyer of his age and time, nay I will leave out the word perhaps and say that in my humble judgment no greater common law lawyer lived of his day, his loss will be felt and deeply deplored by those so long accustomed to look for the productions of his brain and pen to illumine their journey along the mazes and labyrinths of paths heretofore marked by no fingerboards, with no guide save principle and no beacon save the lights of legal lore.

A terse and pithy writer, he made clear whatever he would explain.

His loss will be deeply felt by his professional brothers.

To the student of law was he the greatest benefactor. He was in fact the great teacher of the age.

He taught the young to reason and when once a conclusion was arrived at by the student, it was such a conclusion as satisfied the investigating mind in search of truth and did honor to the teacher who planned and led the young mind into and along the channel of patient thought and thorough investigation.

In the hearts and minds of those to whom he ministered as master and teacher in the great profession which by his great mind he has long enriched, and whose honored round of wealthy gifts he has long enjoyed and whose high claims to this world's distinctions he has greatly aided to grace and adorn, he will be missed; yes, even more than missed.

His character and force truly displayed themselves in the lecture room, and no man, however great the grasp of his intellect, but felt and cherished the magnetic thrill which pervaded all the intelligence of his nature when this great master taught.

A system so thorough impressed the student, until I can say, a monument more lasting than a monument of brass has been reared to his memory in the hearts of those gifted men in our dear old State and elsewhere, who have been so fortunate as to have been his pupils in legal science.

He was fortunate in winning the respect and veneration of those with whom there was a converse of mind.

He was not of that cast which sought to win love by the lights of science and the mastery of mind.

He was what would be termed cold until warmed up by some legal investigation, and I believe I speak truthfully when I say that his memory will be cherished by his many students and the brighter the intellect of the student, the more devoted the mind to the lights of science, the brighter the spot in the student's heart in which Judge Pearson's memory will be enshrined.

That his heart was kind I have evidence personal to myself. That he was charitable, I can from my own experience testify.

Although it was my bad fortune not to be able to avail myself of his generous offer; yet as often as I met in debate those trained under his superior teaching, as often have I bemoaned my sad fate that I was not of his teaching. There are numbers in the State who can testify to his liberality and encouragement of those whose res angustae domi made them sharers of his liberal offers and proffered aid.

His charity sought to develop the man and not by prodigality to spoil the man. Come to me, enjoy this opportunity and pay for it when you can. Thus did he arouse all that was latent in a boy's nature, and with his impress did he send him forth to make of him a lawyer, a citizen and a man. Could more be said in honor of any man?

But with his honors thick upon him, he has been removed from our midst. Position and honor, however desired, or however showered upon poor human nature, cannot stay the summons which calls us home.

Amid all earth's allurements, its stations, its renown, its wealth and its honor, we are all taught what "shadows we are and what shadows we pursue."

"Calm be his rest in his cold dwelling place. Sweet be the repose of his grave and bright his resurrection." To us let this be a warning, for each one, in a short time may, in the course of nature, look for the same summons.

How unsubstantial, how unsatisfying is life with all its brightest treasures poured into the lap of our existence! Does not the heart yearn for something more than this world can bestow? Is not this full proof that "it is not all of life to live nor all of death to die?" "For it cannot be that earth is man's only abiding place! It cannot be that our life is but a bubble cast up by the ocean of eternity to float for a moment upon its waves and then sink into nothingness!" Realize this fact. Let man consider the end of his creation. And when this is thoughtfully and well done, with him will all be well. In accordance with our time-honored customs let us proceed to such action becoming the great loss sustained by his friends, our State, and our country.

At the conclusion of these remarks, Hon. A. S. Merrimon offered the following resolutions, which were adopted:

"WHEREAS, The members of the Bar attending the Supreme Court have heard with profound regret of the sudden death of the Hon. Richmond M. Pearson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina,

Therefore, Resolved, That the family of the deceased be requested to allow his remains to be brought to Raleigh to lie in state in the Capitol for one day.

Resolved, That we tender to the widow and family of the deceased our sincere sympathy in this their great and irreparable loss.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Chairman to attend the body of the deceased to Raleigh and attend the funeral.

Resolved, That a committee of six be appointed by the Chairman to prepare suitable resolutions expressive of the feelings of the Bar, to report to a subsequent meeting and to make such arrangements as may be appropriate to the memory of the deceased."

In accordance with the resolutions, the Chairman appointed the following committees:

To attend the remains at once, Hon. W. P. Bynum, Hon. Thomas J. Wilson, Hon. Henry Gilliam, Wm. B. Glenn, Esq., and R. T. Gray, Esq.

To prepare resolutions, &c., &c., Hon. T. S. Kenan, Hon. J. B. Batchelor, Hon. A. W. Tourgee, Col. T. C. Fuller, Maj A. M. Lewis, and F. H. Busbee, Esq.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

The delegation appointed to attend the remains, represented by Hon. H. A. Gilliam and R. T. Gray, Esq., went as far as University Station, where the down-coming train was met, with Gov. Vance and Hons. D. G. Fowle and W. P. Bynum, who stated that the remains had been carried to Statesville, and would be interred there, but not until the arrival of Richmond M. Pearson, Esq., the son of the late Chief Justice—now in St. Louis.

PROCEEDINGS OF SUPERIOR COURT.

The Superior Court, Judge A. A. McKoy, presiding, met at 10 A. M. yesterday. The jury were called and sworn, when upon motion of R. C. Badger, Esq., seconded by Maj. A. M. Lewis, the Court adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock A. M., out of respect to the memory of the Hon. Richmond M. Pearson, the late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

Richmond Mumford Pearson was born in June, 1805. He was the fourth child of Colonel Richmond Pearson, one of the most active and enterprising citizens of the Yadkin valley; and the grandson of Richmond Pearson, a native of Dinwiddie county, Virginia, who, at the age of nineteen, came to North Carolina and settled in the forks of the Yadkin. The elder Pearson was the Hapsburgh of his house in North Carolina. He was a Lieutenant in the war of the Revolution, and with his company harassed the advance of Cornwallis through this State. All the accounts that we can gather concerning him represent him as a man of marked courage, and independence of character. He was a successful merchant and planter; and died in 1819.

By his first wife, Miss Hayden, he had three sons, Jesse A., Joseph, Richmond and Betsey, all of whom married. Richmond Pearson, the second, had six children, the fourth of whom was the subject of this sketch, who was born, as before stated, in June, 1805.

The young Pearson received his early education at Statesville, by John Mushat, and at Washington city, where he was sent to school by Hon. Joseph Pearson, who was member of Congress from 1809 to 1815, and kept the future Chief Justice under his espetial tutelage and care.

After receiving his primary education, he entered Chapel Hill, whence he graduated with distinction in June, 1823. In the class with him were Daniel W. Courts and Alfred M. Scales. He then studied law under Judge Henderson, and received his license in 1826. He entered the practice of law at Salisbury, and rapidly won his way in the profession, by his talents, integrity, industry and candor, for which from the outset of his career he was distinguished.

In 1829 he entered public life, as a member of the House of Commons from Rowan, and continued until 1832. It is related of him that while he was making his first canvass in Rowan, he was twitted with being a rather weakly specimen of humanity—hardly worthy the votes of the sturdy yeomanry of his county. He promptly and good-humoredly met this charge with a challenge to one of his political opponents in the crowd for a foot race. The challenge was accepted, the race run, and the young candidate won; and he was triumphantly elected.

In 1835, Mr. Pearson, as he was at that time, was a candidate for Congress from the Tenth District. His opponents were Abram Rencher, and Burton Craige. Mr. Rencher ran as a States' Rights Democrat, Mr. Craige as a Nullifying Democrat; and Mr. Pearson as a Whig. The contest was a warm one. We have in our possession the circulars issued by the candidates in the heat of the canvass. Mr. Pearson sought to fix the charge of Nullification upon Mr. Rencher. Mr. Pearson's address to "the freemen of the Tenth Congressional District," was a powerfully written document, betraying at that early day the vigorous style and clear cut reasoning for which he afterwards in mature years was so much noted. He used this strong language: "I am a Republican—I am in favor of the Republican institutions of our country. And I am opposed to Nullification: because I believe it is a doctrine dangerous to the existence of those institutions, and it is not founded upon, or derivable from the Constitution." And further on he said: "I am in favor of State Rights;—I wish to see none of their reserved rights impaired. But in my opinion, the mere absurdity of such a state of things, is sufficient to prove that this right was not reserved, for it amounts to having no government at all—a mere rope of sand. One State would declare the whiskey law unconstitutional—another the embargo law—another the tariff law—another the land law; and we would have a government without laws; like the man who had two wives, one plucked out the grey hairs—the other the black hairs—and he was bald."

Mr. Rencher was elected; and Mr. Pearson accepted his defeat with his usual calmness under adverse circumstances.

The name of Richmond M. Pearson was presented to the General Assembly of 1836-'37 for election to the Judgeship of the new circuit then recently created. His competitor was Thomas P. Devereux, of Raleigh. The vote on joint ballot stood Pearson 82, Devereux 46, with a number of scattering votes for various members of the bar, David L. Swain and Michael Hoke among the number; and Richmond M. Pearson was declared elected a Judge of the Superior Courts of North Carolina.

This was the beginning of his long and brilliant judicial career. He gained reputation steadily as a jurist; and at the session of the Legislature for 1848-49, his name was brought forward for election to the vacancy on the Supreme Bench occasioned by the death of Judge Daniel, which had been temporarily supplied by the Governor, in the appointment of Hon. William H. Battle. His competitors were Robert Strange and William H. Battle. The contest was a close one. The balloting began on Dec 4, 1848, and continued day after day until December 11, when Judge Pearson was declared elected Judge of the Supreme Court.

Upon the death of Chief Justice Nash on December 4th, 1858, Judge Ruffin, who had retired from the bench several years previous, was elected by the legislature to fill the vacancy. After the re-election of this great jurist there was much speculation as to whether he or Judge Pearson would be Chief Justice. Judge Pearson was entitled to it by the usual rules of seniority, but Judge Ruffin had held the place for so many years and was so much older in years, that it was supposed at his election that it would be tendered to him. At a meeting of the Supreme Court on December 30, 1858, the question was settled in a very handsome manner for both the distinguished gentlemen. The position was tendered to Judge Ruffin, who declined it, and it was then bestowed upon Judge Pearson.

In 1865, Judge Pearson was a candidate for the Constitutional Convention held that year. He was beaten by a Mr. Haynes.

In 1868, the Judge was nominated on both the Democratic and Republican tickets for Chief Justice. The present year is the last of his term, which will expire January 1st, 1879.

The chief points of his public career are all embodied in this hasty sketch. Of minor points we must speak hereafter. Nor have we space to touch upon his characteristics as a man, a lawyer, or a Judge. These will be recurred to in another issue.

A Disconsolate Organ.

(From the Boston Traveller, Rep.)

As President, Mr. Hayes has abandoned the principles he represented as a candidate, and, by the acknowledgment of every Democratic leader and every Democratic body, has adopted the policy which Mr. Tilden was pledged to enforce, and enforced it a great deal more successfully and satisfactorily than Mr. Tilden could have done or would have dared to do.

Governor McCreary, of Kentucky, in his message, recommended that the remains of General Zachary Taylor be removed by Kentucky to the State military lot in the cemetery at Frankfort, and that a resolution be adopted by the General Assembly calling upon the Congress of the United States to erect a monument over his grave.

Segars.

Pescud, Lee & Co., Druggists, west side, Fayetteville street, seven doors below Capitol Square, have received another supply of fine segars. They have a five cent segar that cannot be excelled. Try them.

Whenever and Wherever.

Diseases of a choleraic type prevail, or there is cause to apprehend a visit from them, the system should be toned, regulated and reinforced by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Perfect digestion and a regular habit of body are the best safeguards against such maladies, and both are secured by this invigorating tonic and alterative. The Bitters are also extremely serviceable in remedying such disorders. If promptly taken in bilious colic, diarrhœa and cholera morbus, the disease is usually frustrated. In diarrhœa cases, it is only necessary to restore the tone of the relaxed bowels, and this is one of the specific effects of this medicine. Wind on the stomach, heartburn, biliousness, nausea, headache and other symptoms of disturbance in the gastric and hepatic regions are also speedily relieved by this excellent remedy. As a family medicine it is invaluable, since it promptly and completely remedies those ailments which are of most frequent occurrence.

WAKE FORREST.

Good Farming--The College--Mail Irregularities.

(Special correspondence of the Daily NEWS.)

WAKE FORREST, Jan. 7, 1878.

In my letter from Forrestville, published in yesterday's NEWS, all that I said in relation to the system of farming pursued by the farmers of that locality, their prosperity, crops, climate, health and good water, applies with equal force to this place, as the two villages are only one mile apart. There is no finer farming section in the South than this region of Wake—none so well adapted to raising bountiful crops; it occupies the margin between the cotton and tobacco belts, and either of these surplus crops can be profitably raised, yet cotton is the principal surplus crop cultivated. Clover, the grasses, fruits and vineyards, all yield large results.

A number of magnificent results could be given to illustrate the unusual yield, of careful tillage, of crops on a small and large scale, for example, a colored man near Forrestville, with a mule raised provisions enough for a year, and sixteen bales of cotton, an educated farmer near Wake Forrest, (who has purchased but one barrel of flour in ten years) raised one hundred and fifty bales of cotton last year, on as many acres.

The population of the village consists of two hundred inhabitants. There are four first class stores, and two smaller ones, one steam cotton gin, a Lodge of Good Templars, and Friends of Temperance, but in flourishing condition, a college, two female schools, one church, one hotel, six preachers and two physicians in the village.

By an act of the Legislature, the sale of liquor is prohibited within three miles of the College.

THE COLLEGE BUILDING AND GROUNDS.

Wake Forrest College is situated on a hill overlooking the railroad and surrounding country, in a semi-circular enclosure of twenty-three acres. The building is a four story brick edifice 126x51 feet, containg forty-eight dormitories, with capacity for one hundred students, four large recitation rooms, each with all the necessary appliances for teaching the branches embraced in the curriculum.

The Labaratory contains a fine geological cabinet, embracing excellent specimens of amethyst, emeralds, jasper, cornelian, sapphire, onyx, a variety of variety of minerals, Chinese, and other curiosities, and apparatus sufficient to perform all chemical and philosophical experiments to illustrate these subjects.

The Chapel is located in the building, is 40 x 60 feet and is used as a place of worship by the white residents of the village.

THE SOCIETIES.

The Euzelian Society has forty-three, and the Philomathesian thirty members: both are in a flourishing condition; each has a large frescoed hall 40 x 20 feet, handsomely furnished, in which they meet every Friday night for debate, and on Saturday morning for business; both have a well assorted library consisting of six thousand volumes.

The walls are ornamented with portraits of Prof. Owens and Samuel Wait, founders of the Societies and pictures of General's Lee, Jackson and others. Additions to the libraries are made annually, by members, resident and absent. In connection with the libraries there is a large reading room which has on file magazines, periodicals, political and religious newspapers. The residents of the hill have access to the reading room and library on Saturday's, and they are allowed to take books to their homes to read.

There are eighty students matriculated, and the President confidently expects one hundred the next half session.

The financial condition of the college is improving, and its prospects are brighter than they ever were, the friends of the Institution have a well grounded hope that, the accommodations, will be increased, and that through the efforts of the general agents, the Reverends J. D. Huffham and J. S Purefoy, appointed by the Baptist State Convention, that the endowment of the college will be accomplished.

In this noble enterprise of establishing their Male College on a firm, and permanent basis, we wish our Baptiste brethren throughout the State, entire success.

POSTAL NEGLIGENCE.

It is an unpleasant duty to report negligence, on the part of officials, but when the non-performance of public duties amounts to gross, neglect, it behooves the press to call attention to the facts.

The subscribers to the NEWS and others at Forestville and this place complain that frequently their mail matter, from Raleigh is not delivered, until the train returns in the afternoon, and sometimes not until next day, and in one instance an important, letter addressed to Forestville was not delivered for three days after it was post-marked in Raleigh.

"Room for the Leper."

[N. O. Democrat.]

"—Stay dog, for thou shalt hear me."

A day or two since a New Orleans paper contained the following:

Hon Wm. P. Kellogg, United States Senator from Louisiana, is at the St. Charles.

We presume that this announcement refers to the somewhat notorious rascal W. P. Kellogg, who, during the carpet-bag era, figured conspicously and disgracefully in Louisiana politics, if a system of spoilation, lawlessness and villainy of every stripe may be termed politics. Now is this unconvicted rogue entitled to the honor of being announced in New Orleans as United States Senator from Louisiana? Was he ever elected to that position of consideration and dignity? Does he possess a single qualification to represent the people of this State in the Senate? There is not a respectable citizen of Louisiana but will answer nay to every one of these questions. The so-called Legislature which pretended to elect Kellogg was a lawless and revolutionary body, composed chiefly of the worst men and direst enemies of the State. A representative of this people should be a man of honor, courage and probity, while Kellogg possesses only the qualities of the sneak thief, the coward and the liar. A "United States Senator from Louisiana" should possess the respect of the people of Louisiana and be identified with their interests. Kellogg is absolutely despised in every parish of the State, and has been the worst enemy its interests have ever had. It is impossible for him, or any of his followers, to point out a single act of his honorable to the commonwealth, or one that has not oppressed the people or reflected discredit upon them. Such a creature cannot be the legitimate representative of any free people in any body or under any circumstances, and in the name of our fellow citizens we repudiate him and his pretentions.

Certainly the unclean dog occupies a seat in the United States Senate, where he claims to represent this State. But our people are not responsible for that. Our people protested; our legitimate representative protested against his admission to the senate, and the Democratic Senators, without an exception, endeavored to prevent his seating. The fact that W. Pitt Kellogg holds a seat in the Senate, in defiance of law and in opposition to the will of the people the miserable and shameless wretch pretends to represent, is to the eternal disgrace of the Republican Senators, who, to maintain a partisan supremacy, were willing to perjure themselves and disgrace the Senate. Neither the people of Louisiana, nor the Legislature of Louisiana are in anywise responsible for this shameful business. The impudence of a characterless adventurer ready for office, to endure the scorn, contempt and loathing of a people, and the reckless and unscrupulous partisan spirit of the Republican Senators, gave Kellogg a seat in the Senate and nothing else. If he thinks he represents this people, let him go out upon the public thoroughfares of New Orleans and he will find the finger of scorn and contempt pointed at him in every locality he visits. Let him go into any of the parishes and he will meet only with insult and contumely. Actual violence would not in all probability be done him, but the people—the men, women and children—will turn away from him as a thing to be shunned and loathed; as though they had heard the cry, "Room for the leper." There is not a neighborhood in Louisiana where this so-called Senator, this fraudulent representative would not be spit upon. Louisiana, indeed, spews him out of her mouth, spurns him from her feet and denounces his presumption:

"Thou slander of thy mother's womb!
Thou loathed issue of thy father's loins!
Thou rag of honor! thou detested"—

Go, dog, for thou hast heard me.

Letter from Hon. J. J. Davis.

LOUISBURG, Jan. 4, 1878.

Editor Raleigh News:

DEAR SIR:—I see in the NEWS of today, the following, copied from the New York Journal of Commerce, one of the gold organs:

"1. If the 'Bland Silver Bill' should become a law, would the new four per cent. United States bonds, which have already been issued, be payable, principal and interest, in silver?

2. Would the mortgage bonds of railroads, now expressly payable in gold coin, be payable, principal or interest, in silver?

REPLY: 1. In case the Bland Bill becomes a law, all the public debt as it became due, would be legally payable at the option of the government, in silver; and provided enough dollars could be coined, and the administration chose to exercise the right, that might be done."

This answer is true as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. To have been entirely candid the Journal of Commerce ought to have told you that when the bonds were issued they were payable, not in gold but in coin—that is gold or silver, at the option of the Government; I mean the new four per cent. bonds. When the five-twenties were issued it was stipulated by the Government that the interest should be paid in coin—not in gold—but coin—and both gold dollars and silver dollars were then legal coin; but the principal of the five-twenties was, by the contract, payable, as the debts of other people, in legal tenders, which were gold, silver or greenbacks; and the Government has the right now to pay all bonds, except those that specify on their face that they are to be paid in coin, in gold, silver or greenbacks; but it can not, without a breach of faith, pay the new four per cent. bonds in anything but coin "of the standard value of the coin of the United States, on the 14th day of July, 1870" the date of the funding Act. These four per cent. bonds specify upon their face, that they are to be paid, (not in gold.) but "in coin of the standard value of the coin of the United States, as it was on the 14th day of July, 1870." Silver dollars were then legal coin of the United States—the standard value of the silver dollar was 412½ grains, and upon the the face of every one of these bonds it is stated that they are payable, (not in gold,) but in coin of the standard value of that day. Who, therefore, can, with any regard for truth, say that the government is guilty of a breach of faith, if it pays these bonds, according to the contract, in coin, (gold or silver,) of the standard value of July 14th, 1870? I say nothing of the motives of those men who procured the passage of the Act of February, 1873, demonetizing the silver dollar, but I do say it was a gross wrong done to the country, and one that ought to be repaired at once.

I concur with the Journal of Commerce when it says, in answer to the second question, that "when gold is promised on the face of the bond, the debtor, if a private party and solvent, must pay in gold." This is the law—the man, if able, should pay according to his contract. But that paper adds: "It would make no difference, however, with the public debt. If the bonds stated in half a dozen different places that they were payable only in gold, Congress would pass the act all the same, making them payable in silver." If the Journal of Commerce will produce any bond, stating in a single place, that it is payable in gold, it would be dishonest in Congress to pass an act to make it payable in any thing else, without the consent of the bond holder; but the truth is that not one of these bonds states in "half a dozen places" nor in one place, that it is payable in gold—but in coin; and silver was coin, in which they were legally payable when issued; and the Bland Bill only proposes to make it legal coin again.

The same paper says, "The understanding has been that the public debt was payable, principal and interest, in gold." This statement neither accords with the law nor the fact. The interest, on most of the bonds is, by the law, payable in coin—that is gold or silver; the principal of most of them is payable in legal tender—that is, gold, silver or greenbacks. Look upon one of your greenbacks and you will find this solemn endorsement, put there by the government of the United States: "This note is a legal tender at its par value for all debts, public and private, except debts on imports and interest on the public debt." The interest on the five twenties was payable in coin (gold or silver), the principal in legal tender. The funding Act of July 14th, 1870, authorized bonds to be issued at five, four and a half and four per cent, and these bonds, principal as well as interest, are payable in coin—not gold—but standard coin, either gold or silver, as they were on that day—to-wit: July 14th, 1870. I know that the President, in his late message says that the bonds should be paid in gold, because "gold was the only coin in circulation" when the bonds were issued. This was a strange mistake The President, if he had reflected a moment, would have remembered what every body else knew, that when the bonds were issued there was not a dollar of gold or silver either, circulating as currency. It would have been just as true to have said that silver was the only coin in circulation. The gold dollar and the silver dollar, were both, alike and equally, legal tenders in which all the bonds, principal and interest, could have been paid, but every body knows that neither was in circulation. It would be untrue to say that either was in circulation when the bonds were issued. So the argument based upon that statement falls to the ground.

The Journal of Commerce seems to have a holy horror of paying the bonds in depreciated currency. The bonds pay no tax; they have appreciated in purchasing power, while nearly every other species of property has depreciated. If the government pays them according to the contract they certainly have no legal right to complain. If it pays them in a currency worth from 30 to 40 per cent. more than was paid by the holders of the bonds, they certainly have no moral right to complain. When the bonds were issued they were paid for in a currency greatly depreciated—worth in fact, upon an average, not more than sixty or sixty-five cents in the dollar in gold. If paid now in greenbacks or silver, they will get payment in currency worth at least 30 per cent. more than that which they loaned to the Government.

I am in favor of exact justice to all, and I desire to see the government preserve its faith untarnished, and pay every creditor according to its contract, but it is a gross outrage upon the taxpayers (remember the bondholders pay no taxes on their bonds) to compel them, by unjust legislation, to pay in gold, the value of which has been enhanced greatly by forced resumption and by demonetizing silver, when the promise was to pay in coin or greenbacks. I repeat, I am in favor of paying every bond according to its face, and I have been induced to write this because many good people are under the impression that the bonds were payable, when issued, in gold, and such articles as that published by the Journal of Commerce are calculated to deceive the people and keep up this false impression.

I am very truly,

JOS. J. DAVIS.

THE letter of Mr. Joseph J. Davis, the excellent and faithful representative of this Congressional District, is full of sound sense and solid fact. His lucid explanation of the true nature of the government's contract with the holders of its bonds, will go far towards clearing up the misapprehension and misunderstanding which, through the studied misrepresentations of the gold organs, now befog this vital question.

It is right that the people should be put on their guard against the New York press. If not actually subsidized by the bond-holders, yet it is so clearly to their pecuniary interests to stand in absolute sympathy with the money powers of the North in all financial matters, that none of them dare take sides with the people in the pending silver contest. The Democratic as well as the Republican journals of that city are in league with the Resumptionists. We concur with Mr. Davis that the bonds ought to be paid according to the contract upon their face—no more, no less. If that be treason, let it be so.

THE duty of supplying the vacancy on the Supreme Bench, occasioned by the death of Chief Justice Pearson, devolves upon Governor Vance. He appoints a Chief Justice for the unexpired term—not an Associate Justice, under the strict construction of the Constitution. Judge Pearson, however, succeeded to the Chief Justiceship by virtue of seniority.

THE Turks have evacuated their stronghold at Schipka Pass; and the Russians, unresisted, are crossing the Balkans. This retrograde movement of the Ottoman army gives the invaders immense advantage, and marks the beginning of the end of the struggle.

TO-DAY is the 62d anniversary of the battle of New Orleans.

Wilmington Star: Master Ernest Knight, an apprentice son of Capt. James Knight, Master of Transportation of the W. & W. and W., C. & A. Railroads, yesterday afternoon, about a quarter past 4 o'clock, was in the machine shops, and was up on a ladder engaged in piecing a belt attached to one of the wheels of the main shaft, it being off the wheel and resting on the shaft, which was revolving, when the belt accidentally got caught on the wheel, his sleeve became entangled in the shafting and he was whirled around with the revolving shaft, which was making at the rate of about eighty revolutions to the minute. The machine was stopped as soon as possible, when it was found that the young man was horribly mangled. He was conveyed to the residence of his father and every thing was done to alleviate his suffering, but his injuries were so severe his life could not be saved. He commenced sinking about six in the evening and died at eleven.

DAILY NEWS

Going South.

I came from lands of mist and rain,
And hurried, for one sleepless night,
Through landscapes clothed in wintry white
And where the bare Burgundian vines,
Like antlers of a buried herd,
Pierced through their chilly counterpane.

Against the windows sleet and snow
Beat, as determined to the last
To bear me company; I passed
Bleak sandy tracks, where red warfish pines
And stunted olives tempest stirred,
Swayed desolately to and fro.

"I journey on to warmth and light,"
I whispered to my fainting heart,
So lonely at the saddest part
Of this, my voyage to the sun,
Wrapped in the curtains of the night.

And fearing what the dawn might hold,
Whilst still unto my aching brain
The measured clatter of the train
Echoed, in mocking monotone,
"To warmth and light," when all was cold.

But by and bye, by slow degrees,
Child Nature thawed to greet the dawn;
The clinging frost and snow were gone,
The sky beamed blue behind the hills,
The birds were singing on the trees.

The sun rose gayly, all the earth,
Seemed warm again with love and spring
The olive leaves swayed glistening
With silvery lustre, and the rills
Leapt frost-freed to a brighter birth.

A thousand scented Southern balms
The zephyr wafted to my brow,
The orange hung upon the bough,
The almond flowered fair beneath
The tufted majesty of palms.

The waveless of a tideless sea
Crept softly to the rosy shore—
The overhanging mountains bore
Myrtle and mignonette and heath,
And fragrant tangled bryony.

The aloe raised its pointed spears,
The red geranium blossomed wild,
Anemones and violets smiled,
The faint mimosa drooped; above
The rocks were fringed with prickly pears.

Twas then I felt my soul revive;
The winter chilled my heart no more;
I looked upon that sunny shore
And said: "I come to life and love—
I come to thee to love and live."

VIOLET FANE, IN LONDON WORLD.

GENERAL NOTES.

Cassagnac, the French editor, mentions Grant as "this individual."

The Legislature of California has authorized a vote by the people as to whether they desire to stop Chinese immigration.

Secretary Sherman has directed that the employes of the New York custom house shall be uniformed. If the plan proves satisfactory the order will be extended to apply to all the principal custom houses in the United States.

Louisville Courier Journal: The Democratic Senators who helped Conkling in his little job will not probably give him any more planks for his bridge. The Democratic party is down on any such coalition with Belial.

Louisville Courier Journal: The National Woman Suffrage Convention will meet at Lincoln Hall, Washington, on the 9th inst., and a stalwart effort will be made, during the session of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections into a due appreciation of the importance of lugging fair woman into the political arena.

Washington Star, 5th: The Treasury now holds $346,097,550 in U. S. bonds to secure bank circulation, and $43,988,000 to secure public deposits. U. S. bonds deposited for cancellation for week ending to-day, $210,200; amount withdrawn, $33,200; national bank circulation outstanding—currency notes, $320,170,430; gold notes, $1,432,120.

Salvini experiences a mortal terror on a first appearance before a strange audience, and can never eat after the noon of a day upon which he is to undergo the ordeal. Miss Clara Morris suffers in the same way, and Mary Anderson remarked that it was growing upon her and became more and more severe with every new experience and the stronger realization of her position and surroundings.—[Jennie June.]

A number of surgeons, anthropologists and scientists in Paris have formed a mutual dissection society. Each member pledges himself to give his remains after death to be dissected by his surviving friends. When a member departs this life, his brethren meet in the salon of a restaurant, dine gayly, and, after coffee, a box is placed on the table containing a number of glass vessels, in which the reliques of the member deceased are carefully preserved in spirits.

Washington Star: General Banning, chairman of the military committee of the House, has a scheme to reduce the army. He does not contemplate reducing the bayonets, but thinks a little consolidation in order. Hence he proposes the consolidation of the commissary and quartermaster departments, the abolition of the department of justice, and the reduction in number of regiments using the surplusage of men to recruit the decimated regiments up to the full enlistment quota, and turning the surplus officers out to grass.

Mr. Wilkie Collins is reported to have written one-third of his story of "The Woman in White" before he could get a title for the work. After cudgelling his brains in vain, he betook himself in despair to Broadstairs. He walked and smoked for hours on the cliffs, but no title came. At last, as the sun went down, he threw himself on the grass, and looked crossly at the North Foreland Lighthouse. Savagely biting the end of his last cigar, he said aloud to the building standing stiffly and coldly in the evening light: "You are ugly and stiff and awkward, you know you are; as stiff and weird as my white woman—white woman!—Woman in White! The title, by Jove!" And the book was named.

New York Tribune: Governor Connor, of Maine, encourages the opponents of capital punishment by showing in his message that since the abolition of the death penalty there has been but one conviction of murder. Juries are certainly less likely to be moved to leniency when the penalty is imprisonment than when it is death, and this absence of convictions cannot be charged to the laxness of the twelve men in a box; and, as the advocates of capital punishment have always insisted that, when the "deterrent effect" of the death penalty was removed, a "carnival of crime" would follow, it is only fair to show that here is an instance in which the "carnival" has not yet arrived.

A Cocking Main in Georgia.

[Washington Star.]

The great cocking main between Georgia and Alabama, which began at Augusta, Ga., Tuesday, was concluded Wednesday and was won by Alabama. Seventeen battles were fought for $2.00 each fight and $2,000 the main. Alabama won ten and Georgia seven battles. About $5,000 changed hands on the result.

PROF. HERTZ'S GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE

PREPARED BY XANTHINE CO. RICHMOND, VA.

I have tried the Xanthine, and found it to be all it claims to be. It restores the hair to its natural color and removing dandruff. W. W. BENNETT.

(From Rev. Mr. Cameron, Minister of the Presbyterian Church South.)

MOSSY CREEK, Tenn., August 22, 1876.

Xanthine Co., Richmond, Va.:

I have used the Xanthine now for three years, and have induced others to try it, and have never known it to fail in accomplishing all you claim for it. It is an excellent toilet preparation, removing and preventing dandruff and all unpleasant itching, promoting and preserving the natural growth and color of the hair, and rendering it glossy and pliable. I confidently, cheerfully and knowingly recommend it.

Warranted to purify the air instantly in the sick room and hospital, preventing the spread of fevers and contagious diseases. Damp cellars made healthy. Barns and stables purified; put it in water closets and urinals and it renders them odorless and free from contagion. ——The State Treasurer has issued a Drummer's License to A. H. Stump and son, Baltimore, Md.

——There will be a regular meeting of St. John's Guild to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, at the room of the society. A full attendance is desired.

——Yesterday was beyond question the coldest day of the season, the thermometer standing at 16 degrees below freezing point at 7½ A. M.

——Col. Walter Clark has removed his law office from the Law Building to the second floor of the new Bagley Building, opposite the post office.

——John Brooks and Mary Jordan were brought before His Honor, Mayor Manley, yesterday, for an affray. Both were found guilty and returned to the Criminal Court.

——The Supreme Court rooms in the Capitol are appropriately draped with the emblems of mourning, for the death of Chief Justice Pearson. The flag on the building is displayed at half mast.

Sheriff Jonathan Williams, of Henderson county, settled taxes in full with the State Treasurer, as follows:

General taxes,	$1,454.17.
Special "	1,286.02.

——We learn that there is very great suffering among our poor during this bitter cold weather, and relief for them is most urgently called for. See the call of the Young Men's Christian Association in another column.

——We record with pleasure the fact that the sidewalks on a portion of Wilmington street are being repaired, but have to add that those in front of the residences of Capt. A. W. Lawrence and Col. A. M. Lewis need looking after. So say some of the residents of that portion of the city.

Death of an Aged Citizen.

Miss Julia Peace, one of our oldest citizens, died on yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, at her residence in this city. Her funeral will take place from the First Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 3:30.

Throat Cutting and Shooting.

We learn that on Sunday afternoon a most horrible tragedy occurred in New Light Township. Horace Chappell was attacked by a man named Lafoon, who cut a deep gash in his throat with a knife. The wound is a dangerous one; at last accounts Chappell was alive, but it is thought cannot recover. After the assault was made and his throat cut he fired at Lafoon three times with a revolver, all the shots taking effect. Nothing has been seen of Lafoon since he was shot and it is thought he lies dead in the woods. Search will be made for him. Further particulars of this awful affair will be given to-morrow.

Personal.

Hons. W. T. Faircloth and W. P. Bynum, Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the State, are in the city.

Geo. Badger Harris, Esq., is registered at the National.

His Excellency, Gov. Vance, has returned, after a few days absence in Charlotte.

J. D. Brooks, Esq., of the Statesville Landmark, is in town.

General Adkins, of Illinois, who married a daughter of Gov. Swain, is stopping at the Yarbrough.

Capt. Jas. E. Shepherd, of Washington, N. C., and Lieutenant James I. McKee, of Wilmington, are at the Yarbrough.

Hon. Daniel G. Fowle has returned from his hurried visit to Winston, where he attended his father-in-law, Chief Justice Pearson, in his last moments.

Special Meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

This body met last night. A quorum was present. The object of the meeting was stated to be the consideration of a communication of B. F. Moore, Esq., in regard to a judgment against the city. The matter was referred to the finance committee and city attorney. A petition from hucksters in the market to be allowed fires, was referred to a committee, to confer with insurance representatives, to ascertain whether satisfactory arrangements could be made. The Board refused to permit the sale of fresh meats outside of the stalls within the market square.

Upon motion of Alderman Flemming, the Mayor was instructed to make the necessary arrangements on the part of the city, in respect to the funeral ceremonies of the late Chief Justice Pearson.

Our Churches Sunday.

The first Sabbath of 1878, was a day of exceptional brightness, and the bracing coldness of the air exhilarated the number of pedestrians as they hastened churchward. No one could give any excuse for failing to attend services, and the result was well-filled churches. At the First Presbyterian, the regular pastor, Dr. Vaughan, preached both morning and evening. In the morning, on Christian Encouragement, showing that however useless work on earth might seem, yet Christians should know that it shall surely have its reward, so all should press on and be encouraged. In the evening, taking the text, "It shall be well with the righteous," he delivered a most interesting sermon on The Assurances of God's Promises Hereafter.

At Christ Church, the morning sermon was by Rev. F. M. Hubbard, D. D., of the Diocese of Central N. Y., on the text "He came into His own and His own received Him not." Speaking of our Lord's rejection by the Jews, he stated that Christians may be guilty of the same offence in not receiving Him when He is preached to them. The regular services in the afternoon by Rev. Dr. Marshall.

At St. John's Catholic Church, the first Mass was celebrated by Father White. It was followed by a meeting of the Altar Society and of St. John's Benevolent Society: of the latter, officers for the ensuing year were elected. Solemn High Mass was celebrated at 11, after a sermon on the Epiphany, from Matt. 4, XI. At 4 P. M. there were vespers and benediction, during which was held the recitation of the Rosary.

At the Swain Street Baptist, the former pastor, Rev. Mr. Huffman, discoursed on the infinite power of the Christian over death. In the evening the Rev Mr. Swaltney took for a subject Foreign Missions. This meeting is the first of a series, to be held monthly. The election of the officers of the Sunday School was held and N. B. Broughton was elected Superintendent and J. C. Birdsong, Assistant Superintendent.

At the Edenton Street M. E. Church Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, D. D., Presiding Elder of this District, delivered a sermon on the duty of paying our vows to the Lord: that all were under obligations. The beginning of the New Year is a proper time to make promises to do right and keep them. In the evening Mr. Duval, of Va., spoke of our afflictions here working out good for those who serve God, and how grand shall be the realization of this hereafter.

Church of the Good Shepherd—the morning services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Rich, assisted by Bishop Lyman. The subject of the sermon was the Epiphany, from Isaiah 60, 3. The church was filled. At 4½ P. M., interesting services for the children of the parish were held, at which time their Christmas offerings, amounting to over $200, were received. In the evening Bishop Lyman spoke on the subject of Missions in this Diocese. It is our bounden duty to so diffuse the gospel that it may reach every one. A collection for this purpose was taken.

Rev. Dr. Atkinson preached in the morning at the Second Presbyterian Church, saying that "we know not what a day may bring forth." How apt we are to try to examine into the future and not think of the past; to let our thoughts rest on our earthly possessions, and forget the great thing sought after in the world to come. There were no services in the afternoon.

At the Person street M. E. Church, Rev. Mr. Duval delivered a sermon on the desecration of the Sabbath and then changing the subject, spoke of the dangers and snares of intemperance. In the evening Rev. W. C. Norman spoke on the necessity of having some fixed object in life, and of our duty to so conduct ourselves as to win a glorious reward.

Rev. Dr. Pritchard at the Salisbury street Baptist Church, took for his subject "The Communion;" it is obligatory upon all Christians to observe this ordinance, because it is especially commanded. It is a pledge to God and one another to live purer and holier lives. In the evening he spoke of the higher attainments in the Christian life. We should constantly press onward towards the mark. At the conclusion of the sermon the ordinance of Baptism was administered to a venerable gentleman some 80 years of age. The annual election of the Sunday School officers took place in the morning.

A Mammoth Journalistic Enterprise.

We learn from the Commissioner of Agriculture, Col. Polk, one of the most energetic men in our State, that the Board of Agriculture will publish a special issue of the Farmer and Mechanic, the organ of the Department, on Thursday the 17th inst., which will be devoted exclusively to the interests of immigration, and that the publishers will issue an edition of 12,000 copies, to be distributed throughout the Middle and New England States, the object being with special reference to the turning of the tide of Immigration to our own State. Capt. Shotwell knows well how to get up a paper that will meet every requirement and which by the clearness of its statements as to the resources of N. C. will be a powerful argument with those who may be intending to leave for purposes of settling in the South or West. Through his influence a number of the most talented writers in the State have consented to furnish articles on the subject, among them the following gentlemen: Gov. Z. B. Vance; Hon. Kemp P. Battle, President of the University; Prof. W. C. Kerr, State Geologist; Dr. A. R. Ledoux, State Chemist; Col. L. L. Polk, Commissioner of Agriculture, Maj John D. Cameron, of Hillsboro; A. M. McPheeters, Esq., Cyrus P. Mendenhall, Esq; Col. Julian Allen, of Statesville; A. B. Spalding, Esq.; C. W. Garrett, Esq., of Ringwood, N. C.; G. C. Bellis, of Littleton, N. C.; Col. Jasper Stowe, of Mecklenburg Co.; J. G. Burr, of Wilmington, and a number of others. This number of the Farmer and Mechanic will be one of exceptional interest and value, and the arguments used by these gentlemen contributors will have the utmost weight with the people among whom the paper will be circulated.

To the Citizens of Raleigh.

Owing to the mildness of the winter, the Young Men's Christian Association have delayed the usual call on our citizens for contributions, to enable the Association to relieve the wants of our suffering poor. But the recent extreme cold weather has caused much suffering, and urgently calls for immediate relief. The Association has made arrangements, by the liberality of one of our Railroads, to procure 125 cords of wood at a cost of very little over one dollar per cord, and also to provide good rations of meat and meal at a greatly reduced price. The committee appointed to solicit contributions from our citizens, who have always so liberally and cheerfully responded to every call made by the Association, have adopted this method of asking you at once, at your earliest convenience, to hand to Mr. Wm. S. Primrose, Treasurer of the Association, the amount you feel able and willing to give, for this most important and worthy object. If preferred, contributions can be made payable in monthly installments, for four months, commencing with January. We assure you that every effort will be made to secure an equitable and honest use of the funds placed at our disposal, for the relief of those alone who are worthy.

"Whoso stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard."—Prov. 21:13.

The R. L. I. Armory.

The opening of the new armory of this corps will take place this evening at 7½ o'clock. The hall occupies the entire third floor of the large building recently occupied by Higgs' grocery, opposite the post office. The room is handsomely decorated with ensigns of the various nations, and is well lighted, warmed and furnished. The officers of the Company have never paused in their design of providing this place of meeting, and the new Captain, F. H. Cameron, has led the way by his unceasing efforts to secure this headquarters for his command.

To-night all who have signed the enlistment rolls are ordered to be present, with their arms and accoutrements, as these will hereafter be always kept in the armory. New enlistment papers will be signed and everything will begin on a newer and sounder basis.

Week of Prayer.

The first of the Union Prayer meetings was held last night at the 1st Presbyterian Church, and notwithstanding the bitter coldness of the weather, was largely attended. The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Vaughan, the subject for the evening, as arranged by the Evangelical Alliance, being Remembrance of personal and relative mercies: prayer for the Divine blessing on past privileges, and for an humble and contrite spirit.

Rev. Dr. Vaughan and Rev. Dr. Pritchard delivered most interesting and appropriate addresses, and the other services were taken part in by John Armstrong, Rev. L. Branson, Rev. W. C. Norman and A. D. Taylor.

The meeting for this evening is to be held at the Person Street Methodist Church.

Magistrate's Court.

Justice C. D. Upchurch held his usual levee, and before him were tried the following cases:

State and Artelia Dunn vs. Susan Smith. Peace warrant. Defendant entered into a bond of $50 to keep the peace and appear at next term of Criminal Court.

State and Julia Stewart vs. Susan Smith. Peace warrant. Bond of $50 given to keep the peace and appear at Court.

State and Artelia Dunn vs. Jesse Stewart. Peace warrant. Case was dismissed at cost of prosecutrix, and she was committed to jail for failure to pay such costs.

Adjourned Meeting of the Bar.

The adjourned meeting of the members of the Bar will be held in the Senate Chamber at 12 M. on Monday, the 14th inst., at which time the committee heretofore appointed will submit a report of of proceedings in memory of Hon. R. M. Pearson, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

Several gentlemen will deliver addresses on the occasion. The public are cordially invited to attend.

A. A. McKOY, Chairman.

Mars' Moons.

When the telegraph announced the discovery by Prof. Hall that our neighboring planet had two satellites and the dispatches read the next morning at ten thousand American breakfast tables, what think you was the effect upon the hearers? Some colloquy similar to the following was sure to occur: "Mars has two moons, hey? Pass me the milk, Kitty. Strange, isn't it, that astronomers never saw them before. Another chop, please. I wonder what they'll discover next? These corn cakes are excellent. What's the latest from Europe?" We have become so accustomed to startling discoveries and announcements, that we take them as a matter of course. Eventruth must appear in flaming colors to make herself seen. The Virtues of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets have been tested in ten thousand households, whose inmates will rejoice that they consider the discovery and introduction of these remedies of far greater importance to the world than the moons of Mars.

CHATHAM Hill, June 1, 1876.

DR. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Last fall our daughter—aged 18—was fast sinking with consumption. Different physicians had pronounced her case incurable. I obtained one-half dozen bottles of your Golden Medical Discovery. She commenced improving at once, and is now as hardy as a pine knot.

Yours respectfully,
d8-daw REV. ISAAC N. AUGUSTINE.

THE OWNERS of private and public stables can form no conception of the saving they would realize in both money and non-service by keeping a good supply of Giles' LINIMENT GOLDEN BALM OF ANIMALIA constantly on hand and using it promptly in all cases of horse maladies. Pescud, Lee & Co., Agents.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A Gentle Hint.

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75c.
